

Algebra in Action: Adventures with Anna

July 2026

ABSTRACT. Across scientific domains, researchers seek to understand complex systems by decomposing them into simpler parts. These lectures will discuss how to build a theoretical and practical framework for such problems, using the tools and insights of metric algebraic geometry. I will also report on enjoyable conversations and collaborations to study real-world systems. The goal is to initiate a conversation on open questions and future directions.

1. Notes

Coming soon!

References